About Garden, Landscape, & Horticulture Index

Garden, Landscape, and Horticulture Index identifies articles about horticulture, gardening and landscape design and history, botany, ecology, plant and garden conservation, garden management, and horticultural therapy. This database is primarily for gardening enthusiasts, professionals, and students of horticulture and of garden and landscape design and history. Over 530 core titles are indexed and abstracted, many unique from other indexes. The index includes periodicals of the major learned societies in horticulture, botany, ecology, entomology, and plant pathology, and of many plant societies and trade associations. Publications of commercial horticulture, landscaping, and retailing are represented.

Dates of Coverage:	1964—present; updated bimonthly (on the 1st and 15th)

Results	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Results are automatically sorted by Relevance. Use the drop-down menu on the right side above the results to change sorting.</li> <li>2. Limit your search to specific years or source types with the refinement tool on the left side of the page.</li> <li>3. Save interesting and relevant articles by clicking “Add to Folder.”</li> <li>4. Use the blue “Discover full text” button  to locate full text of articles not available for download through GL&amp;H Index.</li> </ol>
Phrase searching:	Use “quotes” to identify exact phrases. If “stop words,” or filler words like “so,” “become,” and “however” are included in the phrase in quotes, GL&H Index does NOT search for these words. Punctuation is not included in a search of an exact phrase.
Find full text, save, export citation, etc.
To find full text:	If the linked full text is available through GL&amp;H Index, click the Linked Full Text or PDF link in the article record. If the full text is not available through GL&amp;H Index, click the blue Discover full text linking button.  If the article is available to UIUC users, a link to the article appears in the “Full Text” section. If not, you will be provided links to search for the journal in the library catalog or request a photocopy of the article through InterLibrary Loan (ILL).
To save, print, e-mail, export, or cite a record:	From the search results, click on an article title. Look for the “Tools” list on the right side of the article record. From there, select an option to save, print, e-mail, export, cite, or link to a record, and more. Clicking a tool will open a manager box at the top of the record.
Folder:	Use the Folder to save interesting and relevant articles. If you are not signed in, the items in your folder will only be saved for the duration of your session. Sign in to save the articles to your account.
Personalization
Set up an account:	To set up an EBSCOhost account, first access GL&H Index through the UIUC Library (see page 1). In the blue navigation bar in the upper right corner, click the “Sign In” link. Then click the “Create a new Account” link.
Preferences:	After logging in, click “Preferences” in the blue navigation bar at the top of the page. There you will see all the personalization options for your EBSCOhost account. From here, change search settings, page layout options, and output options.
Alerts:	You can save searches as e-mail alerts or RSS feeds to be told when a new article is found through a particular search. To set up an alert, do a keyword search you would like to save. From the search results, click the “Alert/Save/Share” link above the article list. Choose the type of alert (e-mail or RSS). Set the alert parameters. For more options, click Advanced Search. To view and edit active alerts, click “Folder” in the blue navigation bar. Select “Search Alerts” from the menu on the left side.
