

The Illinois Chemist

STAFF

S. D. KIRKPATRICK Editor
 A. W. LANDSTROM Business Manager

ASSISTANTS

Editorial	Managerial
R. J. GOODRICH	P. D. JENKS
C. W. LENZING	J. L. BROWN

EDITORIAL BOARD

E. A. REES	Chairman
E. H. VOLLWEILER	Secretary
D. F. McFARLAND, Ph.D.	F. C. HAIN
G. D. BEAL, Ph.D.	O. A. BARNES
B. S. HOPKINS, Ph.D.	C. A. ZELLE
E. E. CHARLTON	A. W. LANDSTROM
S. D. KIRKPATRICK

The Illinois Chemist, the most recent undergraduate publication, is a product of the Department of Chemistry, which is just launching into an era of progressive expansion. On April 17th the largest laboratory in the world devoted exclusively to the study of chemistry was thrown open to a teaching force of chemists which outnumbers that of any American University. To keep the alumni and undergraduates in the closest touch with the growing department is the mission of the Illinois Chemist, and since its initial appearance last May it has striven steadily toward that goal.