12:30-2:00 pm CT | 31st Annual Mortenson Distinguished Lecture
A Lecture in celebration of the Mortenson Center’s 30th Anniversary.

Join us for a lecture with Dr. Agnes Kaposi, who brings nearly a century of perspective as she tells her life story and the role of information as a source of power/control resulting in otherness, exclusion, propaganda, dislocation, as well as transformation in engineering change. A conversation will follow, moderated by Dr. Valerie J. Matsumoto, to connect Dr. Kaposi’s experiences with those of other marginalized and dislocated groups worldwide, such as Japanese Americans, to identify similarities and differences across time and locations, as we aim to understand the Other and rethink some of the most pressing issues that libraries face in promoting equitable communities in our information-intensive and networked society.

Engineering Change (Lecture & Workshops)
The aim of Engineering Change with Dr. Agnes Kaposi is to understand the Other and mobilize our libraries to provide more effective and equitable services and programs to underserved communities. Engineering Change is organized in two parts: the Lecture (setting the context) and two stand-alone 1.5-hour Workshops (February 1 and 15, 2022) to facilitate library staff to take action.
